TRIAL BY JURY.

Judge Hudson said there was a matfer he thought of great importance, and he thought proper to mention it at this time, and that was our system of trial by jury. It was a matter of comment by nearly every one, and there was an opinion amongst some that it was a failure. He thought it was a system that would never be surrendered by the during the war, and others are sons of American people, for they were a liberty loving people. There is no doubt that many people are astonished at the ment was given last Monday evening verdict of juries in many cases. Our at the residence of Mr. Eduard Scholtz juries occupy a very exalted and responby a party of ladies and gentlemen of sible position. Under our law, at Newberry. To sum up the Judge said, our jurors should be treated as gentlemen, and given some comfort during their deliberations. The rule requiring unanmity, encourages crime. One singleman often being able to make a jury fail to reach a verdict. It is the hope of the guilty, especially in our cities, to get one of their number on the panel, and thus escape the penalty of the law. The rule obstructs justice. It enhanced the enjoyment of the whole trip to feel that it had been is blowing from the Indian Territory, where they had a heavy snow a few days ago. Morning. I had a tiger fight a few Not long after this the thought ocmorning. I had a tiger fight a few days ago. I killed him and send you our children would enjoy attending the end of his tail. As I had a lay over the Augusta Exposition, and with the I thought I would go out and kill a few thought came the money for that purquails for breakfast. I did kill twenty, pose. The children believe that they but I have. I think, taken my last hunt in Mexico. I got a little farther off than I thought, about three miles from town, and walking along through the cactus bushes which is about ten feet high. I stopped a second to see which way to go, and looking about ten steps ahead of me I saw a something laying there, I knew it was some kind of a beast, but thought it was class presented me with an elegant gold-headed cane. I had been using a dead; but to make sure I kicked against a bush, and in an instant it rose in my face, and I discovered it to be a tiger. It rose to its hind feet and self entirely mistaken. Always fond or owled at me, and looked as if it was of my class this beautiful and valuable growled at me, and looked as if it was ready to spring on me. My gun was loaded with No. 6 shot, and I was Other valuable presents came from the same direction on the same occasion. almost afraid to tackle him with such small shot, but I had little time to think, so I poured both loads in his face his department of the roads and town- and eyes, and being so close I fixed and eyes, and being so close I fixed were needed I could easily produce him, fill I could re-load my gun and go them. I love my people, and I have a little closer, and put two more loads in him. That killed him. I then dragged him about fifty yards to the railroad, and then covered him with some grass and brush, and will try to go back to-morrow and get his hide to send to you, but I am done hunting in Mexico. I could take a rifle with me on my engine and kill one every day. Tell Mr. K. D. Lake to come out and we will go tiger hunting, but we will stay on our engine. I am getting on pretty well learning Highway No. 8-W. B. Reagin, from the Spanish language, but it is so broken it is very hard to learn. There are no trees here and you can see a long ways. I think from the looks of the great mountains and peaks that this country must have been once a burning volcano. The rocks all look like they have been melted. They resemble coal clinkers No. 14-J. W. Caldwell, from James I that you see around iron factories. The Sierra Madra Mountain is a very won-No. 15-John Mayes, from Kennerly to derful mountain and is said to be all gold, silver, copper, coal, and magnet ore, and precious stones. Sierra Madra No. 16-Hernts Worthy, p. c., from the Wicker place to Rob Gray's branch; line is a Spanish word and means "mother of mountains" in Eaglish. Sierra is "mountain" and Madra is "mother," but in Spanish everything is backward. he way we would word it would be mountain mother. You may talk of Dizziness, and all symptoms of Dyspoor people and poverty in the United States, but you have never seen either, nor never will till you strike Mexico. Certainly they are the poorest people in the world. I am told that they kill and eat their own children; how true this is I cannot say, as I have never seen it, but I have seen the train kill a wild cow or horse, or any other animal, and they run and cut off a piece and throw it on a few coals until it would get a little warm, and eat it. I have also seen them cut off pieces and eat it raw. As I came in yesterday to a place called Roderignes, where the railroad crosses the Salough River, three Mexican women and one little child, with no clothing but a sheep skin around each of the women, and the child as naked as when born, came up to me and asked me to help them, if No. 22-George Hipp, from Lane's bill I could. They said they were sisters and had not had a mouthful to eat in four days, only the buds off the bushes. I gave them my dinner and $1 each, and I have never seen people appreciate anything as much. They kissed my hands and got down and kissed my feet. I could scarcely sleep that night No. 25-Pink M. Denson, from forks of for thinking of them, it being cold, and knowing they would have to sleep on the ground, and take what come.
